

Play out your fantasies with a Casiotone M10.

There you are in the spotlight. It's just you and your music. Symphony for flute. Violin. Piano. Organ.

Yes, you can do it all. Yourself. Because with the Casiotone M10, you can make the sounds of four different instruments on a simple 8-note polyphonic keyboard. So you can play beautiful chords — with or without vibrato — on Violin. Flute. Piano. Organ.

Now, where do you want to play first? Carnegie Hall? Chicago? Boston? Philadelphia? You can. The Casiotone is a mere 3½ lbs. — completely portable.

It's battery operated with AC power optional. The speaker hooks up to an amplifier, if you're into loud sound. And if your neighbor isn't, don't worry. There's a headphone hook-up.

Come in to a Casio dealer and try out a Casiotone M-10. For under $150, it might take you further than you could ever imagine.

One simple switch for Violin. Flute. Piano. Organ.
